

TANK BADGE REMOVAL & INSTALLATION INSTRUCTIONS

O.E. BADGE REMOVAL

Items Needed:

- Heat Gun or Blow Dryer
- Nylon Fishing Line
- Goo Gone
- Non-Chlorinated Brake Cleaner

Option 1:

1. Heat up the badge with the heat gun or blow dryer to make the adhesive soft
2. Take a small amount of fishing line with both hands and place it between the gas tank and the back of the badge (a second person pulling slightly on the badge can help)
3. Pull the line slowly from one side of the badge to the other cutting it from the tank

Option 2:

1. Take NON-CHLORINATED brake cleaner and spray it behind the badge (non-chlorinated won't hurt the paint)
2. Wait a little while and with good pressure it will peel right off

NEW BADGE INSTALLATION

1. The badges are more flexible when they are warm or in warmer (70+ degree) weather.
2. Use the Goo Gone to remove any of the adhesive that may still be on the tank
3. Use some mild soap and water to clean the surface
4. Dry the surface with a clean cloth
5. Line up the new badge with the front of the tank indent (non TC models)
6. Make sure your placing is even and level (The adhesive is very good and you will only get 1 chance to put these on correctly. Pulling off and re-applying the badge will most likely damage it.)
7. Attach the top front of the badge first and slowly wipe your hand across the badge to adhere the rest of it
8. Once it is adhered take a dry soft towel and with fairly good pressure wipe from the center of the badge to the outside to get rid of any bubbles or wrinkles
9. If any manufacturing residue is noticed on the badge (blurry, spotty) simply use a soft clean cloth and rub the badge vigorously until the residue is gone.
10. Use the same procedure for the other side
